Costanza Gastaldi Biography

Born in Italy, the artist photographer Costanza Gastaldi lives and works in Paris. A graduate of the Ecole des Gobelins and the Sorbonne University, her photographic expeditions have brought her to the Chinese mountains, above the Arctic Circle and into the White Desert.

Still an emerging artist, her work has already been the subject of several solo and group exhibitions in Europe and Asia and has been presented at international fairs such as PhotoFairs Shanghai; Fine Art Asia, Ink Asia; Haute Photographie Rotterdam and Art Paris.

Costanza creates her images using a process called Grain Photogravure. This is a 19th century process used to transfer photographic images onto a copper plate using photosensitive gelatin. It played a central role in the early days of photography and is considered the most beautiful way to print photographic images.
